Art Unit: 3751

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-16 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-26 of U.S. Patent No. 6,637,472. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the application claims paraphrase the patent claims containing the same elements in the same order but claimed in broader form. For example, application claim 1 contains the same first fluid transfer system, second fluid transfer system and control element as called for in patent claim 1 but omits the limitations of a used fluid container in the first transfer system and the specific structure of the control element being a manual switch since the wording in application claim 1 reads on both manual and automatic switches. In a similar manner application claims 11 and 16 paraphrase patent claim 1, and application claims 7, 9 and 13 paraphrase patent claims 9, 11 and 13 respectively wherein it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that limitations could have been omitted from the patented claims in order to obtain a broader legal coverage of the invention.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Delport (5.681,456). Delport discloses a machine 10 for transferring coolant to and from an automotive engine including a first transfer system 58 and 62 that allows for sequential transfer and a second transfer system 60, 64 that allows for simultaneous transfer as described on col. 4, lines 57-67, with the device 40 functioning as the control element as claimed that allows switching between the sequential and simultaneous systems.

5. Claims 2-6, 8 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims and if the double-patenting rejection is overcome.

Claims 12-16 would be allowable if the double-patenting rejection is overcome.
